The Honorable

The Secretary of State,

Washington, D.C.

Sir:

In continuation of the Legation's despatch
No. 180 of September 12, 1936, I have the honor to report that the rainfall in Addis Ababa for the month of September, 1936 was 111 millimeters.

This was the lowest for September in six years and, as was the case in June last, thus again favored the Italian military in their preparations for the occupation of the regions west of the capital.

The figures for the five previous years were:

September, 1931 :	137 millimeters.
" 1932 :	169 "
" 1933 :	186 "
" 1934 :	193 "
" 1935 :	235 "

It will be seen, for example, that in September of last year more than twice as much rain fell as this year.

Respectfully yours,

C. Van H. Engert

Sir:

In continuation of the Legation's despatch
No. 212 of December 3, 1936, I have the honor to report that no rain fell in Addis Ababa during the month of December 1936, and only 6 millimeters fell in January 1937.

For purposes of comparison the following figures are given for the period 1930-1936:

December

	December	January

1933	nil	"
1934	6.0	"
1935	4.5	"
1936	nil	104.5

In the above table the utterly abnormal rainfall of 104.5 millimeters in January 1936 is particularly noteworthy.

Nella concorde e soddisfacente soluzione di questa vertenza si documenta ancora una volta la bontà dell'ordinamento corporativo e la tenacia dello spirito di collaborazione suscitato dal Fascismo in tutte le classi e in tutte le categorie. La vertenza dei bancari, malgrado delle difficoltà che essa presentava e delle spinose situazioni che era necessario affrontare per risolverla, si è chiusa senza liti e senza rancori, con un accordo fondato inaccettabilmente sopra criteri di equità, di giustizia e di profonda comprensione dei diritti e delle necessità delle parti interessate. Bisogna riconoscere che le Banche, dovendo imporsi come e più d'ogni altro organismo un regime di rigorosa economia e di assoluta severità nelle spese, non potevano non affrontare a una a una tutte le questioni che comunque si riferissero alla loro consistenza ed efficienza, adeguando gli impegni e gli oneri alle reali possibilità e subordinandoli al dovere imprescindibile di risparmiare le forze per resistere validamente e per poter svolgere un'azione sempre più vasta e provvida a favore dell'economia nazionale.

Le spese per il personale rappresentavano nelle Banche circa il settanta per cento delle spese generali; basta prospettare questo dato per far intendere come una revisione degli impegni assunti fosse ormai improrogabile. E alla revisione si è proceduto per trattative dirette dai rappresentanti delle Banche e degli impiegati sotto il controllo vigile ed equilibratore di un rappresentante del Governo. I lavori sono stati indirizzati con la necessaria ponderatezza e prudenza verso uno sbocco oltremodo felice. L'accordo raggiunto testimonia la buona fede e la buona volontà dei contraenti e dimostra, appunto, come il congegno dell'ordinamento corporativo abbia funzionato con piena efficacia. Così le Banche che gli impiegati, hanno accettato la loro parte di sacrifici rendendosi ragione delle supreme necessità dell'ora attuale, ma particolarmente gli impiegati possono considerare il compromesso con soddisfazione poichè esso segna a loro vantaggio un cospicuo miglioramento sulle condizioni offerte dalle Banche all'inizio delle trattative. Degno di nota è il fatto che la percentuale di riduzione degli stipendi è più alta per gli stipendi maggiori, mentre per i piccoli stipendi la decurtazione è minima.

Nell'atmosfera di cordialità e di fiducia da cui l'accordo è scaturito, la quotidiana fatica continuerà a svolgersi volontosa e serena; e sarà questo l'esempio più alto e più nobile di disciplina e di solidarietà fascista che i bancari offriranno alla Nazione.
